

The Authority in Enterprise Performance

We've been transforming enterprises through integrated technology solutions since 1984 with ERP, IIoT, CPQ & more!

ZERO

implementation failures in 40 years.

That's right. In 40+ years of serving manufacturers, we've not had a single failed ERP implementation. Godlan employs Best Practices and Change Management to bring deep industry expertise to each collaborative client engagement. We begin by listening really well, gaining critical understanding of the client, their specific needs and objectives. We work very hard to ensure mutual agreement regarding expectations and plans, thereby avoiding assumptions or surprises which can cause costly changes, delays, and failures. From detailed discovery to careful planning to project execution, our most crucial business achievement is a highly successful customer.

Flexibility under one roof

SyteLine ERP has been designed to provide complete end-to-end functionality for manufacturers while offering the flexibility and scalability you need. SyteLine supports all activities from the time business is quoted to the moment cash is posted against receivables. All key processes are provided for within core functionality, including material planning, production scheduling, procurement, engineering, financials, costing, inventory management, and much more. Many competitors bolt their solution together from multiple sources, such as providing an accounting, quoting, or CRM module which comes from a third party. With SyteLine, everything is provided from under one roof, with the flexibility to include other solutions as YOU see fit.

Laser-focused on manufacturers

SyteLine ERP is manufacturing-centric, and Godlan has a proven track record of helping manufacturers become highly successful with their deployment of SyteLine. Our Services staff is comprised of former manufacturing and financial experts, most of whom have spent 15 - 20 years working very closely with SyteLine clients. You can be assured that we will employ best practices and industry expertise to meet the unique needs of manufacturers... unlike a number of competitors who may have sold ERP to an insurance company yesterday, a hotel chain today, and then to you, a manufacturer, tomorrow.

We're committed to building lasting relationships that transform lives, businesses, and communities.

Our Solutions

TEC Accreditation

Godlan has achieved TEC Accreditation for over a decade. During the accreditation process, TEC examines the levels of satisfaction for Godlan customers regarding consecutive service delivery and support, maintenance, and likelihood of customer recommendation. Godlan's highly satisfied clients affirm that the company provides real business benefits such as increasing revenue, decreasing operating costs, creating new products or markets, increasing collaboration with partners, and reducing production cycle time.
